Foreword

The 1989 Illinois Statistical Abstract is the fourth volume of economic data published by the Bureau of Economic and Business Research. The first volume, Illinois Economic Abstract, was published in 1977 under the direction of Professor Ruth A. Birdzell. Subsequent publications were Illinois Economic Statistics 1981 and the 1987 Illinois Statistical Abstract.

This new volume relies heavily on the format and a portion of the data contained in the 1987 Abstract, which was a product of the skill and diligence of former research assistants, David Mandy and Deborah Mustell Lee. We were appreciative of their efforts then, and we want to acknowledge their "carryover contribution" to this volume.

The University of Illinois has a three-fold mission of teaching, research, and public service. A portion of the continuing service mission of the Bureau of Economic and Business Research is to provide both data and advice on data collection to business, government, students, and the general public. In addition to the Abstract, the Bureau also publishes the Illinois Business Review, a bimonthly publication that features historical articles, recent economic data, and forecast statistics. It also publishes the Illinois Economic Outlook, an annual, end-of-year publication that reports the state of various facets of the Illinois economy for the past year and offers projections for the year to come.

The 1989 Illinois Statistical Abstract is also available on diskette (in Lotus) for users with heavier data analysis needs. The diskette or any of the publications mentioned above may be ordered through the Bureau of Economic and Business Research.

The Bureau gratefully acknowledges the untiring editorial efforts of Gayle Layman and the important contributions of research assistants, Paul C. Bishop, James R. Bruehler, Greg Gilbert, Mary A. Laschober, Robert P. Hartwig, and Anne E. Winkler. All lent their time and expertise to specific sections of this book.

We at the Bureau welcome any comments or suggestions you may have about this volume. We find readers' opinions helpful as we strive to improve the publication.

Introduction

The 1989 Illinois Statistical Abstract presents statistics on the Illinois economy to interested data users. An at-a-glance view of the Illinois economy in 1987-1988 is presented in the Overview. This section provides the latest available annual data on Illinois income, earnings, employment by major industry, and transfer payments, as well as county-level population, labor force, and unemployment data. Also, the Overview section presents unemployment and inflation rates for the most recent months. The remainder of the book presents historical statistics from 1978 to the year for which the most recent data is available on these same series to provide a view of the Illinois economy over time.

Comparison to 1987 Abstract

The data series provided in the 1989 Statistical Abstract are, for the most part, updated versions of the series presented in the 1987 edition. For users familiar with the 1987 edition of the Abstract, the table below shows changes in the location of the data. The table also indicates, by asterisk, data that are not consistent across editions. Specifically, the revised data from the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA) presented in sections 1 through 4 cannot be strictly compared with the data presented in earlier editions of the abstract because the BEA recently revised all their data to the benchmark year 1985.

Also, in January 1988, the base year for the Consumer Price Index was changed from 1967 or 1977 (depending on the given series) to 1982-84 for all price series. As a result, these data are not strictly comparable to those in the 1987 edition. The county retail sales data have been computed using an improved methodology and cannot be compared across editions. Finally, employment data presented in sections 4, 5, 6, 8, and 9 are not necessarily comparable because the method used to collect the data differs across sources. A brief discussion of these employment source differences is presented in the Note at the end of this Introduction.

The Census of Manufactures, Census of Services, and Census of Population data are identical to those presented in the 1987 Abstract. The Census of Manufactures and Census of Services are undertaken every five years, the most recent year being 1987. However, 1987 census data broken down at the county level are not available at this writing. As a result, the data presented by county runs through 1982. The Census of Population is conducted every ten years; 1980 was the most recent population census year. Census data for 1970 and 1980 are presented in Section 10. County population estimates for 1987, the most recent data available, are presented in the Overview.

Note on Sources of Employment Data

As mentioned, the employment data presented in Sections 4, 5, 6, 8, and 9 differ because they are collected using various methods of data collection. As a result, these data are not necessarily comparable. Specifically, employment figures included in this volume are obtained in one of three ways:

1. Administrative record data (such as unemployment insurance records or Internal Revenue Service forms, see section 4);
2. Household survey data (see section 5); or
3. Establishment or payroll data (see sections 6, 8 and 9).

These methods of data collection differ in at least three ways: coverage (e.g. which categories of workers are included), how they account for workers who hold more than one job, and how they account for unpaid leave from work in defining employment.

Coverage

Household survey data include the employment of wage and salary workers, self-employed workers, and members of the armed forces. Civilian employment in both agricultural and nonagricultural industries is included. The data presented in section 4, based on administrative records, cover these same categories of workers as well. Payroll data, on the other hand, include the employment of nonagricultural wage and salary workers only.

Multiple Job Holding

In household survey data, employed individuals are counted only once even if they hold more than one job. However, payroll data and administrative record data count individuals who worked in more than one establishment during the survey period each time their names appeared on an establishment payroll.

Unpaid Leave from Work

Household survey data count an individual as employed if he holds a job, even if not being paid by the employer for the time off during the survey week. In establishment data, an individual is included among employees only if he is on the payroll during the survey week.

Section 1
Personal Income & Non-Farm Earnings

Data: Section 1 presents county data from 1978-1986 on total personal income, non-farm personal income, farm income, and per capita personal income. This section also provides county data on earnings of major sectors of the economy including agriculture, manufacturing, services, and government. Categories are based on 1972 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) codes.

Personal income is the income received from all sources by the residents of a given area; it is a broader measure than earnings.

Earnings include only labor income and exclude income sources such as interest, dividends, and transfer payments.

Source: "Personal Income by Major Source and Earnings by Major Industry," Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA), US Department of Commerce.

Comparability: These data are not directly comparable to the data in Section 1 of the 1987 Abstract because the BEA has revised the data to the benchmark year 1985.

Footnotes: [2] Farm income consists of proprietors' net farm income, the wages of hired farm labor, the pay-in-kind of hired farm labor, and the salaries of officers of corporate farms.

[8] "Other" consists of the wages and salaries of US residents employed by international organizations and foreign embassies and consulates in the United States.

[L] Less than $50,000. Estimates are included in totals.

*Illinois portion only.

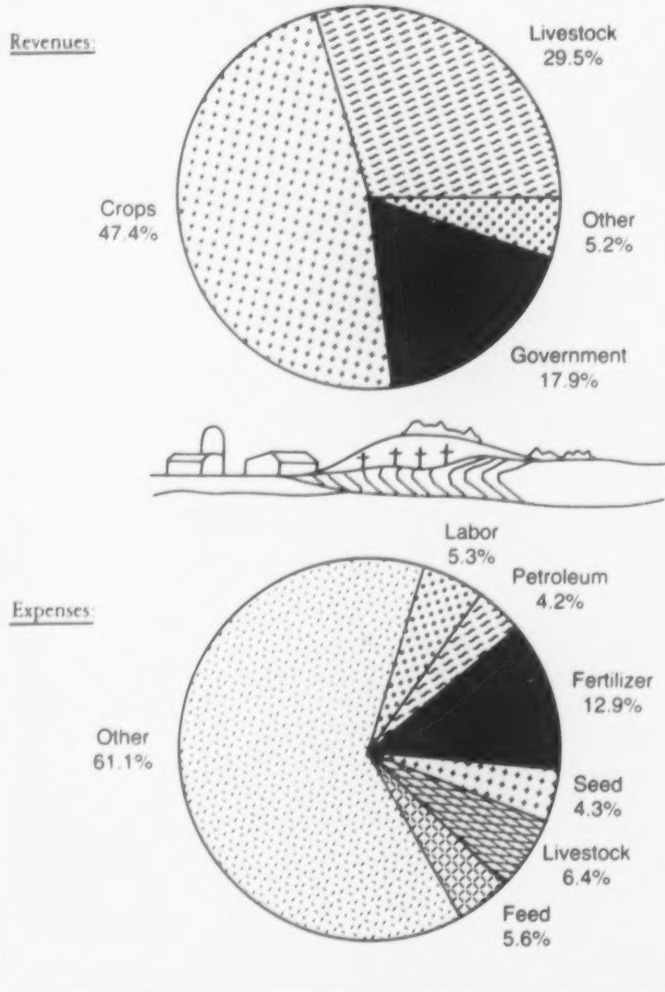
Illinois Farm Revenues and Expenses, 1987



Section 2
Farm Income

Data: Section 2 presents data on the major components of farm income and expenditures in Illinois.

Farm Income includes sales made by farmers as well as government payments to farmers.

Farm Expenditures include feed, livestock, seed, and fertilizer.

Source: "Farm Income and Expenditures," Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA), US Department of Commerce.

Comparability: These data are not directly comparable to data in Section 3 of the 1987 Abstract because the BEA has revised its benchmark year to 1985.

Footnotes: [1] Includes imputed income such as gross rental value of dwellings and value of home consumption and other farm related income components such as machine hire and custom work income, rental income and income from forest products (1978 to present).

[2] Consists of hired workers' cash wages, social security, perquisites, and contract labor, machine hire and custom work expenses.

[3] Includes repair and operation of machinery; depreciation, interest, rent and taxes; and other miscellaneous expenses including ag. chem. (1969-1977).

[L] Less than $50,000. Estimates are included in totals.

*Illinois portion only.

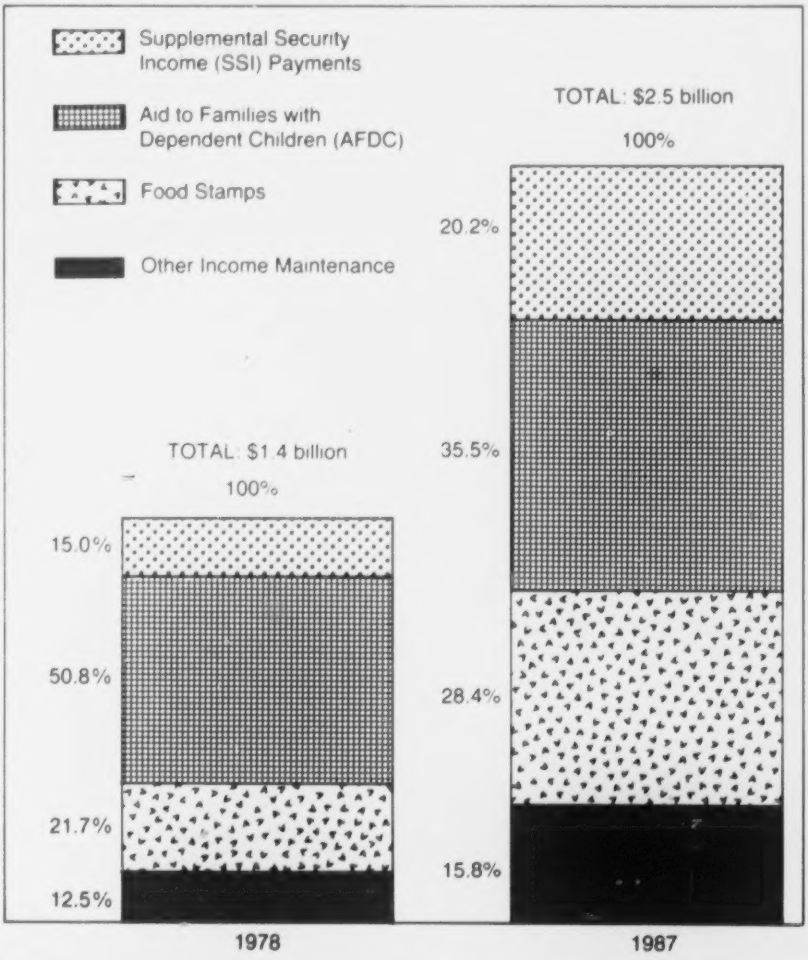
Illinois Income Maintenance Benefit Payments, 1978 and 1987



Section 3
Transfer Payments

Data: Section 3 presents county data from 1978 to 1986 on transfer payments. Transfer payments include government payments to individuals (i.e., unemployment insurance, veterans' benefits) and payments to nonprofit institutions.

Transfer Payments are a component of personal income but are not included in earnings.

Source: "Transfer Payments," Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA), US Department of Commerce.

Comparability: These data are not directly comparable to data in Section 2 of the 1987 Abstract because the BEA has revised its data to the benchmark year 1985.

Footnotes: [2] Consists of medicare payments, medical vendor payments, and champus payments.

[3] Includes general assistance, emergency assistance, refugee assistance, foster home care payments, earned income tax credits, and energy assistance.

[9] Consists of state and local government payments for foster home care supervised by private agencies, state and local government educational assistance payments to nonprofit institutions and other state and local government payments to nonprofit institutions.

[10] Includes consumer bad debts, personal injury payments to individuals other than employees, and other business transfer payments.

[L] Less than $50,000. Estimates are included in totals.

*Illinois portion only.

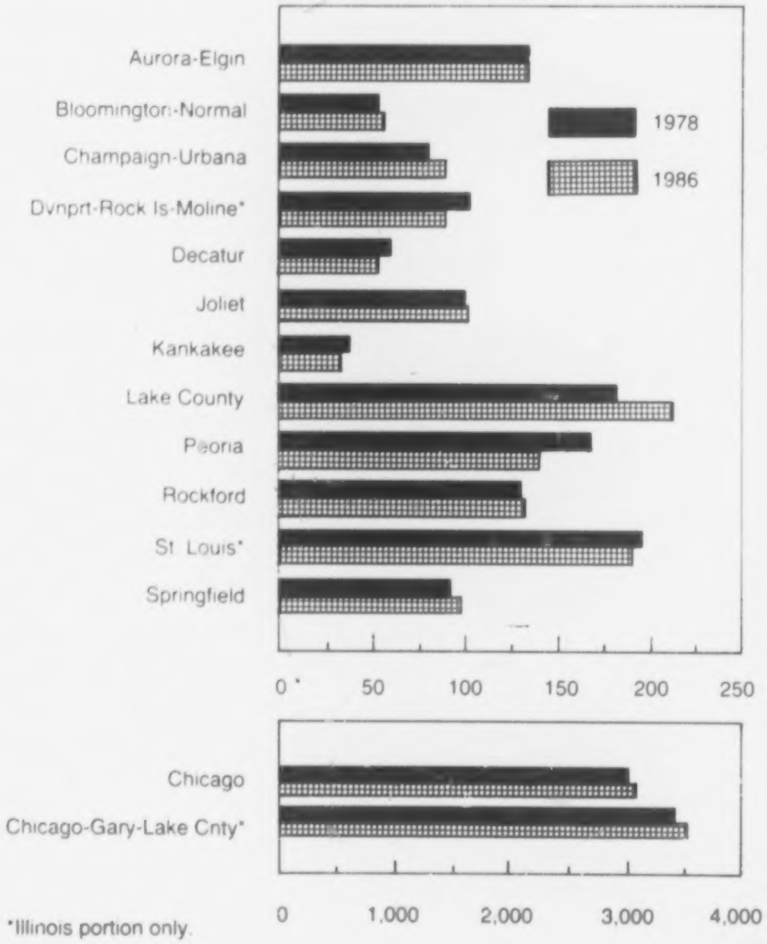
Total Wage and Salary Employment by Illinois Statistical Area, 1978 and 1986 (in thousands)



*Illinois portion only.

Section 4
Employment, By Industry

Data: Section 4 presents county data from 1978 to 1986 on employment by industry. Categories are based on 1972 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) codes.

Source: "Employment by Type and Broad Industrial Source," Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA), US Department of Commerce.

Comparability: These data are not directly comparable to data in Section 8 of the 1987 Abstract because the BEA has revised its data to the benchmark year 1985.

Section 4 data are not directly comparable to employment data in Sections 5, 6, 8, and 9 because the methods used to collect the data and the definition of employment differ across sources. For an explanation of these differences, refer to the Note in the Introduction of this book.

Footnotes: [2] Excludes limited partners.

[3] "Other" portion of the number of jobs held by US residents employed by international organizations and foreign embassies and consulates in the United States.

*Illinois portion only.

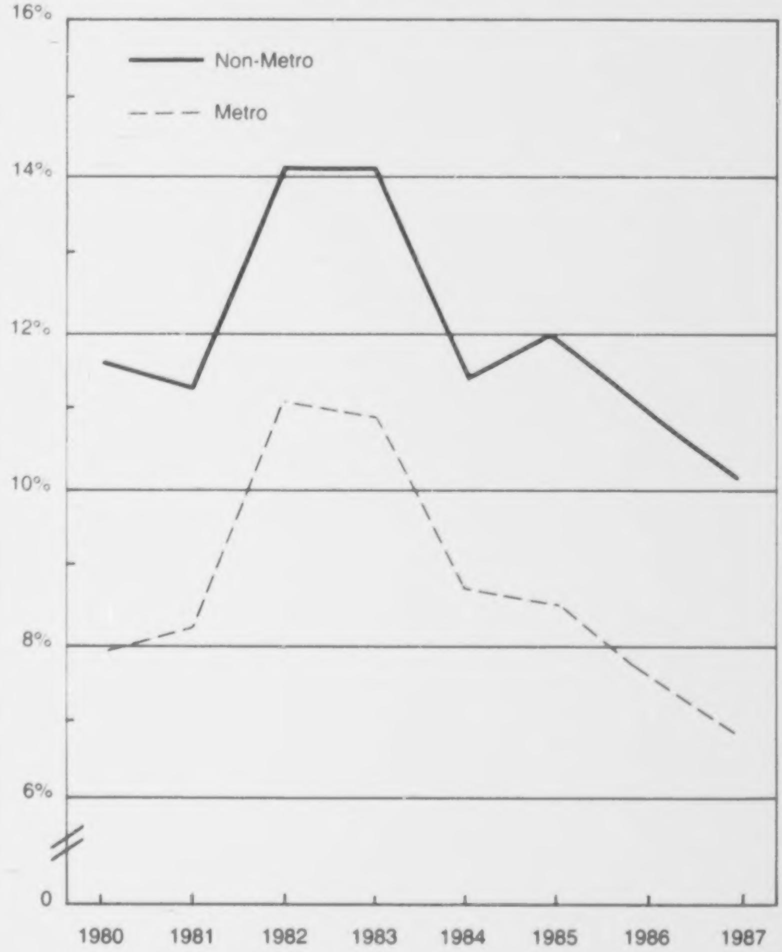
Illinois Unemployment Rates
Metro vs. Non-Metro
1980 - 1987



Section 5
Employment, Labor Force Statistics

Data: Section 5 presents data on the labor force, employment, unemployment, and the unemployment rates for counties of Illinois.

The labor force includes all persons who are 16 years of age or older who are employed or actively looking for work.

Employed persons include full- and part-time workers, those who worked 15 or more hours in a family business, and those who had jobs but were temporarily absent for economic reasons. Employed persons with more than one job are counted in the job in which they work the most hours.

Unemployed persons are defined as those not at work during the survey week but who had attempted to find work during the last four weeks and were still looking.

The unemployment rate is computed as:

unemployed persons / labor force

Source: Bureau of Labor Statistics, US Department of Labor. These data were compiled from a survey of approximately 60,000 households conducted by the Bureau of the Census.

Comparability: These data are comparable to data in Section 10 of the 1987 Abstract.

Section 5 data are not directly comparable to employment data in Sections 4, 6, 8, and 9 because the methods used to collect the data and the definition of employment differ across sources. For an explanation of these differences, refer to the Note in the Introduction of this book.

Footnotes: *Illinois portion only.

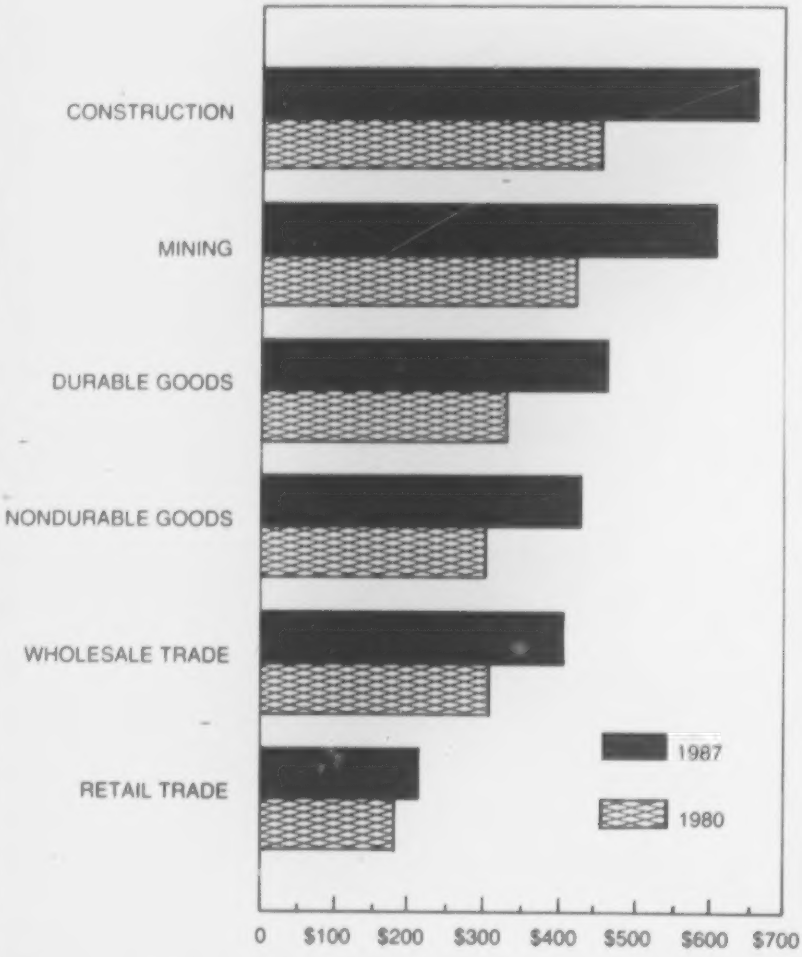
Illinois Average Weekly Earnings
by Industry, 1980 and 1987



Section 6
Employment, Weekly Earnings and Weekly Hours

Data: Section 6 presents employment data broken down by industry. It also includes weekly earnings and weekly hours where available. Establishment data such as these count a person each time his name appears on a payroll. Thus, a person holding two jobs, with his name appearing on two payrolls, would be counted twice.

Not all counties and statistical areas in Illinois are presented in the tables in this section. No data were available for the geographic areas that are missing.

Source: These data were obtained from the BLS 790 report on employment, hours, and earnings published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, US Department of Labor. The figures are derived from a monthly survey of approximately 13,000 establishments.

Comparability: These data are comparable to data in Section 9 of the 1987 Abstract.

Section 6 data are not directly comparable to employment data in Sections 4, 5, 8, and 9 because the methods used to collect the data and the definition of employment differ across sources. For an explanation of these differences, refer to the Note in the Introduction of this book

Footnotes: *Illinois portion only.

Illinois Gross State Product by Sector Share 1986

Section 7
Gross State Product

Data: Section 7 presents data on Illinois Gross State Product by industry for 1978-1986. Gross State Product (GSP) is the counterpart of US Gross Domestic Product and is regarded as the most comprehensive measure of production for a state. GSP is made up of four components: wage and salaries of employees, proprietors' income, indirect business taxes (such as sales and property taxes levied by state and local government), and capital charges (such as depreciation).

Current dollar GSP provided in Table 7.1 reflects the market value of the state's output.

Constant dollar GSP provided in Table 7.2 reflects the physical volume of the state's output.

Source: Bureau of Economic Analysis, US Department of Commerce.

Comparability: No comparable Gross State Product section was included in the 1987 Abstract.

Value Added by Illinois Manufacturers by Industry, 1982 (billions of dollars)

Section 8
Census of Manufactures

Data: Section 8 presents data on manufacturing industries, by industry, for the State of Illinois for census years 1967, 1972, 1977, and 1982.

Not all counties and statistical areas in Illinois are presented in the tables in this section. No data were available for the geographic areas that are missing.

Source: Geographic Area Series, 1982 Census of Manufactures, Bureau of the Census, US Department of Commerce. These data reflect payroll establishment data collected in response to mailed census forms.

Comparability: These data are identical to the Census of Manufactures data in Section 5 of the 1987 Abstract. The 1987 Census of Manufactures by county will be available in June 1990.

Section 8 data are not directly comparable to employment data in Sections 4, 5, 6, and 9 because the methods used to collect the data and the definition of employment differ across sources. For an explanation of these differences, refer to the note in the Introduction of this book.

Footnotes:

A	150-249 employees.
B	250-499 employees.
C	500-999 employees.
D	Withheld to avoid disclosure of confidential data.
E	1,000-2,499 employees.
(NA)	Data not available.
Z	Figures round to zero.

*Illinois portion only.

Receipts of Illinois Service Establishments
(in millions of dollars)

Section 9
Census of Services

Data: Section 9 presents selected series on service industries in Illinois for Census years 1967, 1972, 1977, and 1982. Only establishments with a payroll are included in the tables.

Not all counties and statistical areas in Illinois are presented in the tables in this section. No data were available for the geographic areas that are missing.

Source: 1982 Census of Selected Service Industries, Bureau of the Census, US Department of Commerce. These data are primarily gathered via mailed census forms completed by various-sized establishments.

Comparability: These data are identical to the Service Industries data in Section 6 of the 1987 Abstract. The 1987 Census of Services data by county will be available in June 1990.

Section 9 data are not directly comparable to employment data in Sections 4, 5, 6, and 8 because the methods used to collect the data and the definition of employment differ across sources. For an explanation of these differences, refer to the Note in the Introduction of this book.

Footnotes: [1] Selected services only. Includes counties with 300 establishments or more.

[2] All services except religious organizations and private household services. Includes firms subject to federal income tax only. Includes counties with 500 establishments or more.

[3] All services except religious organizations, private household services, hospitals, schools (all levels), labor unions and political organizations. Includes firms subject to federal income tax only. Includes counties with 300 establishments or more.

(NA) Data not available.

*Illinois portion only.

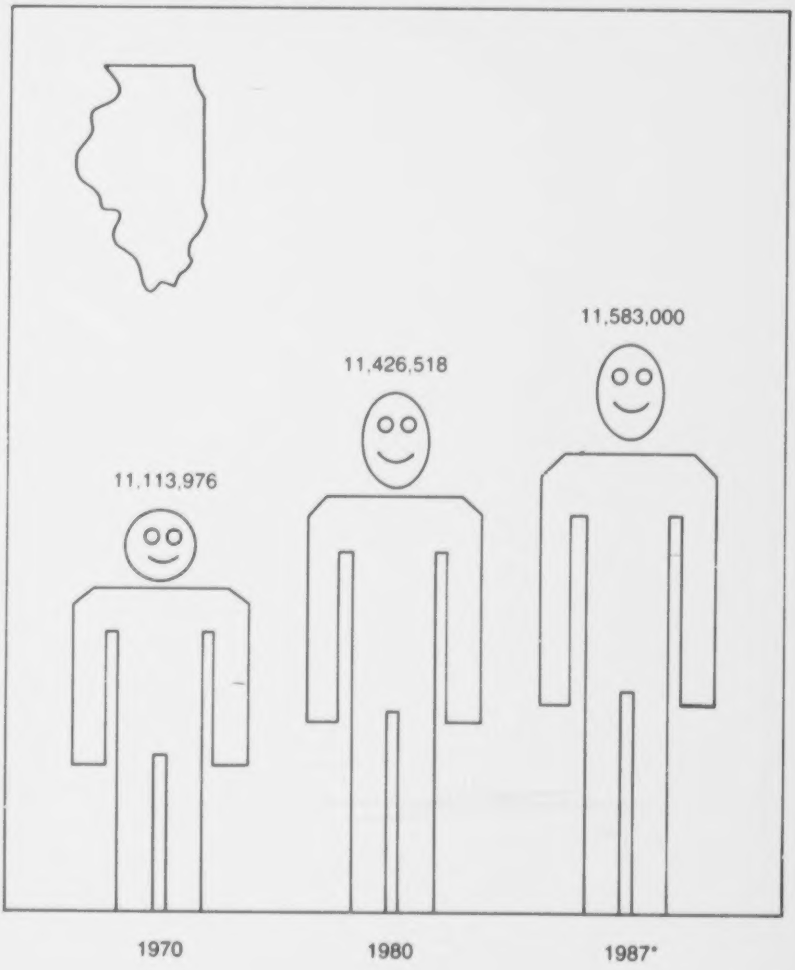
Illinois Population, Selected Years



*Estimate, Bureau of the Census

Section 10
Census of Population & Housing

Data:	Section 10 contains population data for census years 1970 and 1980 by geographic area, sex, age, race, and marital status along with selected housing information.
Source:	These data were extracted from the Census of Population and Housing, Bureau of the Census, US Department of Commerce.
Comparability:	These data are identical to the Population data in Section 11 of the 1987 Abstract. The next Census of Population will be taken in 1990. County-by-county data from the 1990 Census should be available in April 1991.
Footnotes:	[1] Group quarters include such items as dormitories and prisons. [2] In 1970 the Asian and Pacific Islander category included Japanese, Chinese, Filipino, Hawaiian, and Korean. The 1980 group included these plus Asian Indian, Vietnamese, Guamanian, and Samoan. Thus, this category as well as the "other" category are not strictly comparable between 1970 and 1980. *Illinois portion only.

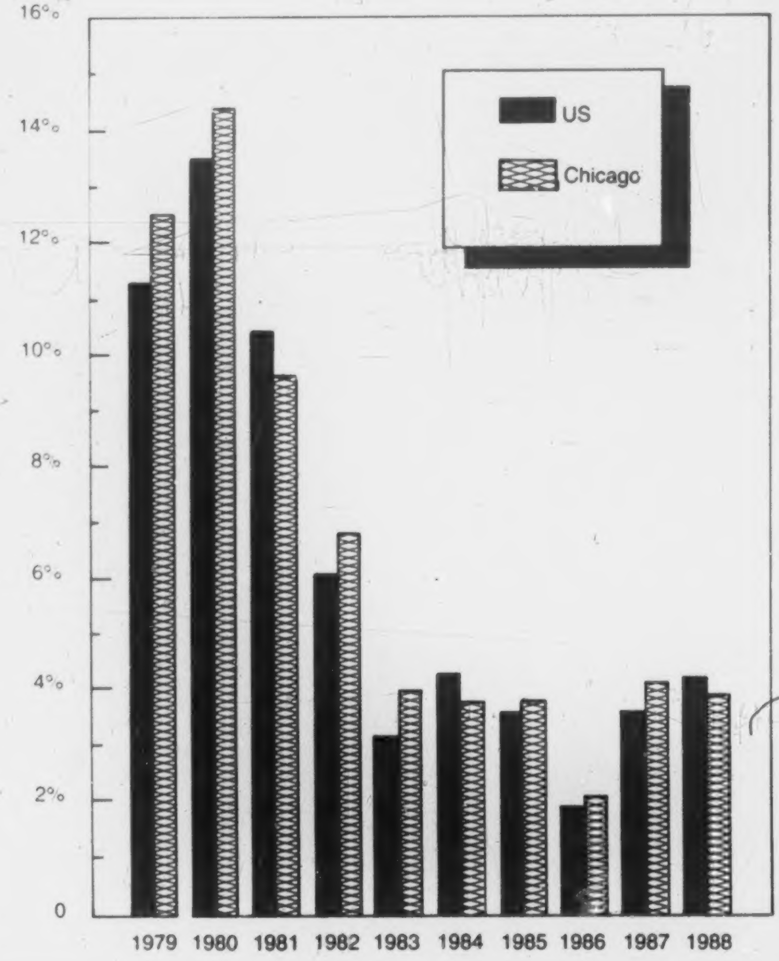
Inflation Rates, Chicago and US, 1979-1988



Section 12
Consumer Price Indexes & Inflation Rates

Data: Section 12 presents annual Consumer Price Indexes (CPI) for the US, Chicago, St. Louis, and the North Central region for the years 1978 through 1988. Also, corresponding year-to-year inflation rates (for example, inflation for the period 1987 to 1988) are presented. The price data are for all urban consumers, all items, with a base year of 1982-1984.

Source: CPI Detailed Report, Bureau of Labor Statistics, US Department of Labor.

Comparability: These data are not strictly comparable to CPI data presented in Section 4 of the 1987 Abstract. The base year is 1982-84 for all series in this volume. In the 1987 Abstract the base year was 1967 or 1977, depending on the given series.

Footnotes:

[1] Size A: population greater than 1,250,000
Size B: population 385,000 to 1,250,000
Size C: population 75,000 to 385,000
Size D: population less than 75,000

[2] Inflation rates are computed using Table 12-1. The inflation rate for the period 1987 to 1988, for example, is computed as:

$$((CPI_{1988} - CPI_{1987})/CPI_{1987}) * 100$$

Section 13
Commercial Banking Statistics

Data: Section 13 presents Illinois commercial bank balance sheet data for 1986 including figures on total assets, liabilities and their components.

Source: Board of Governors, Federal Reserve System.

Comparability: These data are comparable to banking data presented in Section 4 of the 1987 Abstract.

Footnotes:

[1] Includes only insured commercial banks in Illinois.

[2] Includes the assets of foreign offices for banks with facilities abroad.

[3] Market values are reported for all securities categories.

[4] For banks with less than $100 million in total assets, this number includes the market value of all of the US government agency and corporate obligations not held in trading accounts.

[5] Includes all loans to US and non-US addresses.

[6] Includes all loans, not secured by real estate, to individuals for medical expenses, personal taxes, vacations, consolidation of nonbusiness debts; for the purchase of private passenger automobiles, household appliances, furniture, trailers, boats, mobile homes, etc. Includes credit extended through credit card plans, bank check credit, other revolving credit, and special overdraft credit.

[7] Calculated by subtracting federal funds purchased from federal funds sold.

[8] Includes the liabilities of foreign offices for banks with facilities abroad.

[9] All deposit categories include deposits at domestic offices only.

[10] IPC = Individuals, Partnerships, and Corporations.

[11] Super NOW accounts are NOW accounts containing an agreement between depositor and depository such that, provided certain conditions—including a $1,000 minimum balance—are met, some or all funds deposited are eligible to earn more than 4.25 percent.

[12] Non-transaction accounts include money market deposit accounts, savings deposits subject to restrictions of three withdrawals or transfers a month, savings deposits subject to no more than three transfers a month for purposes of covering overdrafts, other savings deposits not classified as transaction accounts, and all time deposits with original maturities of seven days or more that are not classified as transaction accounts.

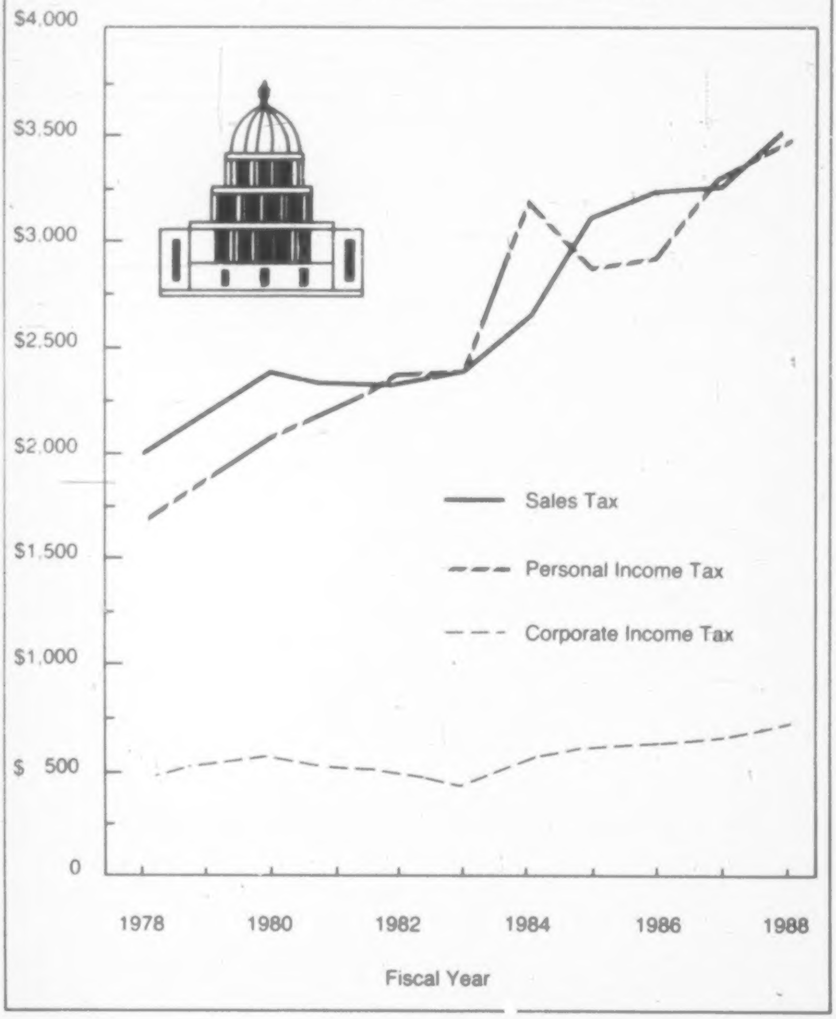
Selected Illinois Tax Revenues, FY 1978 - FY 1988
(in millions of current dollars)



Section 14
General Revenue Fund Tax Receipts

Data: Section 14 presents Illinois General Revenue Fund tax receipts by major source for Fiscal Years 1971 to 1988.

The state fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30 of the following year.

Source: Office of the Comptroller, State of Illinois.

Comparability: These data are comparable to data presented in Section 4 of the 1987 Abstract.

Footnotes: [1] Public utility receipts do not include revenues from the interstate message tax introduced in Fiscal Year 1986. Rather, these receipts have been paid into a protest fund due to a court challenge. Since August 1987, a large portion of these receipts have been transferred into the General Revenue Fund. These transfers are not reflected in the tables presented. Beginning in early 1989, interstate message tax receipts will be directly received into the General Revenue Fund.

[2] Interest income on funds invested by the state.

[3] Includes amnesty payments of $75 million in January 1985; $1 million in June 1985; $15 million in March 1986; $11 million in April 1986; $5 million in June 1986.

[4] The state lottery began in Fiscal Year 1975.

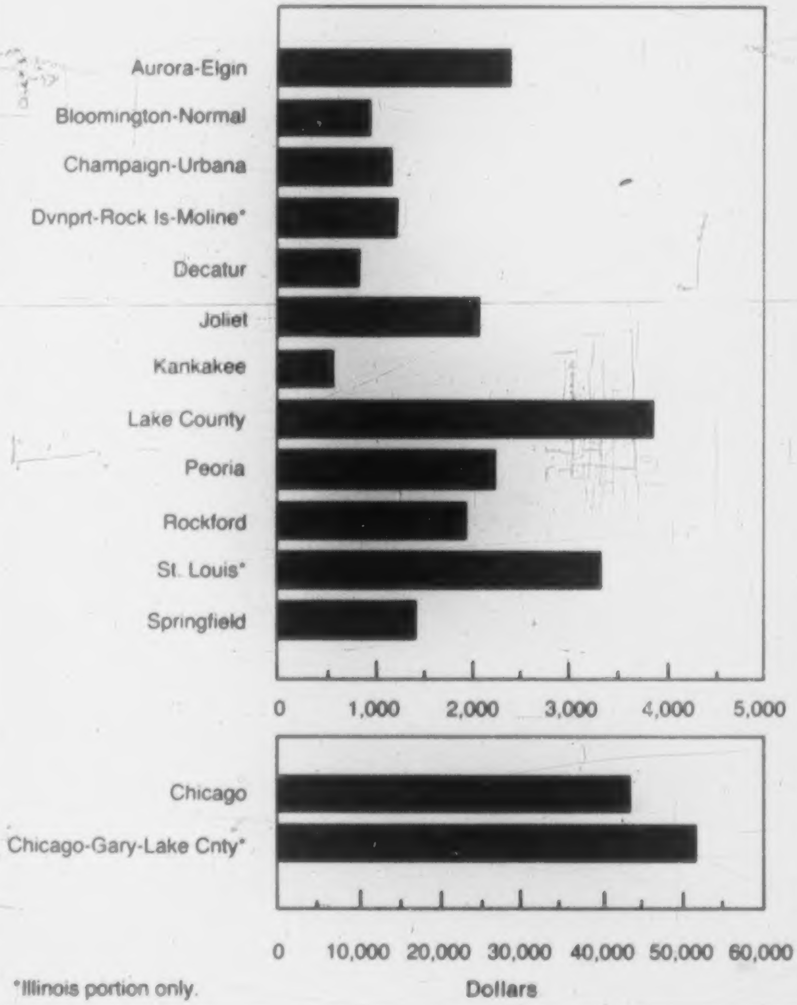
Retail Sales by Illinois Statistical Area, 1987
(in millions of dollars)



*Illinois portion only.

Section 15
Estimated Retail Sales

Data:	Section 15 presents estimates of retail sales by county for the years 1984 through 1987.
Source:	Sales are estimated by the Bureau of Economic and Business Research, University of Illinois using county/municipal tax receipts reported in "Kind of Business Reports" obtained from the Department of Revenue, State of Illinois.
Comparability:	These data are estimated using a different source and method than that used in the 1987 Abstract and, hence, are not comparable to the latter.
